Join Quik Mart, KIIM FM and Tucson Clean Cities Coalition for the opening of Tucson's 10th E85 site at Irvington and Houghton roads Fuel with E85 for $1.85 for two hours

The newest E85 fueling station will offer the ethanol and petroleum blend for $1.85 per gallon for two hours on June 25 with support from the national Ethanol Promotion and Information Council (EPIC) and the Tucson Clean Cities Coalition.

Quik Mart, 10265 E. Irvington Road, at the intersection with Houghton Road, will provide the E85 special from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

"Bringing a clean fuel alternative like E85 to the Tucson consumer, being a good community partner and being a part of building a better tomorrow was important to Quik Mart," said Troy Little, owner of the Quik Mart. "It just made sense."

Robert White, deputy director of EPIC, said, "Consumers around the country are asking for choices at the pump as prices continue to climb. Thanks to Troy, the consumers of Tucson have one more."

KIIM FM will add to the festivities with a live remote, and Quik Mart will offer a jumbo hot dog, small bag of chips and 32-ounce soft drink for just $1.85. EPIC E85 T-shirts and other promotional items will be available for the first 50 customers.

"Opening Tucson's 10th E85 site tells me that E85 is not only selling well for the other nine sites, but it also has found a permanent home in Tucson," said Colleen Crowninshield, manager of the Tucson Clean Cities program at Pima Association of Governments. "With gas prices pushing $4 a gallon and the need to reduce America's dependence on foreign oil more apparent than ever, we're proud to be a part of fueling Tucson for $1.85 with clean alternatives to petroleum, such as E85. We'd like to thank Quik Mart and all of our other stations for bringing these fuels to the Tucson region."
